GREAT EVENT IN ST. LOUIS

OPENING DAY OF THE GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT.

Thousands of Veterans Already There, and Many More on the Way—The New York Firemen's Parade—Arrangements for the Encampment Complete.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 27.—The sky at day break was obscured by heavy clouds, and toward 7 o'clock a misty, penetrating rain which promised to continue throughout the day, began to fall. It was anything but an auspicious opening of the Grand Army encampment week and for a time the executive committee of arrangements were inclined to be trifles put out at the vagaries of "old pros" but the veterans didn't seem to mind it a bit and the New York firemen who have been having a decidedly lively time of it since their arrival last evening, bade defiance to the elements by making a long street parade, escorted by the local firemen and a battalion of police. Cappa's band was at the head and the old gotham engine in their rear, and as they marched along with forms erect and faces upturned toward the rain they set an example of how to be satisfied with existing circumstances, favorable or unfavorable, that had a magical effect and was tempestuously recognized by the crowds that lined the streets.

Posts are arriving on every succeeding train from surrounding states and a large number of visitors have already arrived from all parts of the country to witness the imposing pageant presented by the massing together of so vast an army of men within the lines of the encampment. All the main avenues and public highways of the city are profusely and gayly embazoned with banners, festoons and trophies and handsomely decorated triumphal arches are erected along the line of march to the grounds.

A spirit of hearty interest and animation prevades the entire people. The hotels are rapidly filling up, but the accommodations provided are of such unusual and extraordinary magnitude that no apprehension need be entertained as to the city's resources to fully provide for the comfort and entertainment of all comers. The residential parts of the city are just as gayly decorated as the line of march of the Grand Army. From every window and coign of vantage banners and ensigns are streaming, and the city in its present joyous array appears justly entitled to the admiration and praise with which its handsome maidens are universally regarded. The supremacy in the domain of beauty so long accorded to the belles of St. Louis seems now to enwrap this fair city, awakening the delight of all beholders.

The entire arrangements for the encampment are perfect and complete. In Court House square Col. John B. Gandy, chairman of committee on camps, has established his headquarters. Governor Rusk, of Wisconsin, attended by his full staff, occupy tents immediately adjoining. The tent accommodation for members of the Grand Army include provision for 24,200 in all, divided as follows: Missouri, 5,000; Illinois, 7,000; Indiana, 2,000; Kansas, 4,000; Ohio, 1,000; Iowa and Wisconsin, 1,600; Kentucky, 800; Nebraska, 800; scattering, 1,000. The probabilities are that a greater instead of a lesser number will be here, but there will be ample room and accommodation for all.

Gen. Fairchild, commander-in-chief, and Gen. Gray, his adjutant, have their headquarters at the Southern hotel, corner of Fourth and Walnut streets, and the various state headquarters are assigned as follows: Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Dakota, Florida, Minnesota and New York at the Southern hotel; Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Ohio at the Lindell hotel; Indiana at Sixteenth street and Lucas place; Iowa, Pennsylvania and Nebraska at the Laclede hotel; Maine and Michigan at the St. James; Missouri at Masonic hall; New Mexico at the Planter's house, and Vermont at Hurst's hotel. The Gulf and Potomac headquarters are at the Hotel Barnum.

The executive committee believe that fully 100,000 visitors will be in the city during the encampment. There will be several thousand members of the Women's Relief corps and many have already arrived.

The National convention of this organization holds its annual sessions at the same time and place as the Grand Army, and many of the delegates to the convention are already here. The Grand Army posts as they arrive are entering their several encampments. The Kansas veterans are located in Washington square, directly in the rear of the National headquarters.

Ohio's first delegation of 400 from Cleveland came in late and hastened to St. Louis park, where they were joined by squads from Indiana.

The Pacific slope came down in thirty-three cars L. & P. from California and 100 more from Oregon, Washington Territory and Alaska. They came with the products of peace, the fruits, the wine and the grapes of the golden land, and in the great hall of the Armory are preparing to exhibit, as the Knights Templar did last year, some of the blessings of their country.

Commander-in-Chief Fairchild, of the G. A. R., started from Madison, Wis., last evening for the National Encampment at St. Louis. He was accompanied by his family and sixty veterans belonging to his home post, together with Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine; Adj. Gen. E. B. Gray, State Treasurer H. B. Harshaw, Assistant Adj. Gen. F. W. Oakley and numerous other prominent gentlemen. The party had a special train of four cars.

On the day of the grand parade, Tuesday, business will be practically suspended, as Mayor Francis has declared it a holiday and requested all persons to observe it as such. The merchants' exchange have signified their intention of so doing, and there will be no session of the board of trade on that day. The schools will be closed, and the warmest reception extended to the veterans on every hand.

Weather permitting, the parade of the Grand Army will be a memorable event in the history of St. Louis. According to present indications there will be more veterans in line than at any previous encampment since the organization was brought into existence, and a greater number of old soldiers will be within the limits of the city by midnight than has been gathered together at any one place since the grand review at Washington after the close of the war.

The miles of streets that are to be traversed by the parade are bordered with iron arches, studded with gas jets enclosed in globes of varied hue, and the illuminated arches are almost without number. The main triumphal arch has been erected at the intersection of Twelfth and Olive streets, and near by it is the grand stand from which the parade will be reviewed by the commander-in-chief and invited guests.

Saturday the designs upon the arch will be changed, and next week it will be made to do service for the inspection of the president.

Train From Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The grand official headquarters train carrying the Grand Army posts of several eastern states and of Wisconsin, Chicago and surrounding territory left here in six sections at 8:30 this morning. The train was appropriately and beautifully decorated. At Springfield a special car was attached for the accommodation of Governor Oglesby and his party of thirty people. St. Louis was reached at 5 o'clock.

Excursion Train Wrecked.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 27.—The northbound passenger train on the Iron Mountain railway was wrecked near Walnut Ridge, Ark., this morning. The members of the Texarkana and Hot Springs Grand Army posts were among the passengers en route for St. Louis. The list of casualties cannot be obtained at this time.

THE GREAT YACHT RACE.

A lively interest taken in the contest between the Thistle and Volunteer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The main topics of conversation among sporting men to-day are the Volunteer-Thistle races for the America cup to-morrow, Thursday, and if necessary Saturday. This cup was won by the old yacht America in a race with fourteen English yachts around the isle of Wight, in 1851. The British made no effort to recover the cup until 1870, and afterward in 1876 and 1881, the American centerboard yachts winning the races. In 1883 it will be remembered that the much-talked-of cutter, Genesee, came over and was beaten by the Boston sloop Puritan. Last year the Mayflower gave the Galatea a bad wounding, and since that time Great Britain has puzzled her head sorely to construct a yacht that could show her stern to the best "skimming dish" that ever floated.

During the winter Mr. George L. Watson designed a steel craft that was built under cover, nobody save the owners and builders being allowed to see her profile. This is the present exponent of keel yachts—the Thistle. She was "polished up so carefully" that she sailed superior to either the Genesee or the Galatea. The Thistle came over some weeks since, mastered by Capt. Horn and a picked crew of English and Scotch yachtsmen. But few speed trials have been given, although at the race between the Volunteer and Mayflower the latter sloop held her own against the foreigner.

Eastern yachtsmen, not at all backward in their admiration of center board yachts, saw it was advisable to launch a new yacht to compete with the one building in Scotland. Hence, Gen. Paine, owner of the Mayflower, had Mr. Burgess design a steel yacht. The Volunteer was built and beat her own record to construct a yacht that could show her stern to the best "skimming dish" that ever floated.

Improvements and acquisitions have been made by each continent, the Americans building each yacht of greater draft, and the English adding to the beam of their knife-blade cutters. A comparison between the two yachts shows the volunteer's draft to be ten feet, while the Thistle's is thirteen feet eight inches; the Volunteer's beam is twenty-three feet six inches, while the Thistle's is twenty feet three inches. Thus will concessions by both sides tend to make a yacht some day that will in all probability outlast anything that has ever spread her white wings on the ocean.

The course to be sailed to-morrow is from buoy 18, off Owl's Head, Bay Ridge, around the southwest spit buoy, thence around Sandy Hook lightship, thence back on the same course to a finish off buoy 15, below the Narrows, a distance of thirty-eight miles.

The second race will be twenty nautical miles to windward or leeward from buoy 5, the Scotland lightship or the Sandy Hook lightship, according to the wind on the day of the race. If a third race should be found necessary it will be sailed over a triangular course of forty miles outside of Sandy Hook.

Last week it was feared that the race would have to be put off on account of the Thistle's increased displacement, but matters have since been amicably arranged, Mr. George M. Schuyler being appointed to pass upon the disputed question.

The number of steamers at the race will be greater than ever before. Many of the ports along Long Island sound, together with Boston, will contribute to the squadron.

Betting is uncertain, yachtsmen staking their money on the Volunteer, while Anglo-American dudes are backing the Thistle "you know."

Indians on the War Path.

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 27.—Private telegrams received here state that the major portion of the Indians on the San Carlos reservation have gone on the war path. So far no one has been killed, but depredations on stock ranches have resulted in much loss and outrival all past exploits. The troops at the camp north of town have been ordered to prepare for march, and are standing on their arms. Business is almost entirely suspended and the streets are filled with people discussing the affair.

Coal Miners' Strike Settled.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 27.—The Union Coal Company has promulgated an agreement whereby their miners will receive 8 per cent. advance and laborers 15 per cent, and other minor concessions. Their collieries resumed to-day. The Mineral Mining company and their strikers have not yet reached a settlement. All other coal companies are working.

CLEVELAND IN ST. LOUIS.

DETAILS OF THE VISIT SO FAR AS NOW ASCERTAINABLE.

How the President Will be Received and Entertained in the Mound City—An Epidemic of Drunkenness in the Army and Navy—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The presidential program, at St. Louis, so far as can now be given, is as follows: He will arrive at midnight Saturday, and will be met at the east end of the bridge, and be driven to the mayor's residence, where he and Mrs. Cleveland will be the mayor's private guests.

MONDAY at 10 o'clock a drive will be made to the fair grounds, where there will be 30,000 or 40,000 children in attendance. From 12 to 1 o'clock the president will be welcomed by the mayor at the Merchant's Exchange; from 1 to 2:30 o'clock the president will be driven through the principal streets. Mrs. Cleveland will not be at the exchange, but will be entertained at luncheon, and from 3 to 5 o'clock a reception will be held at the Lindell hotel. From 5 to 7 o'clock will be given to dinner. At 7:30 o'clock the street illuminations will be reviewed and the exposition attended, and at 8 o'clock the president and Mrs. Cleveland will be serenaded by the various organizations.

Thursday there will be a public reception at the court house, a ride down the river on a painted steamer, a drive through the streets, and a collation will be served at the fair grounds. At night the Veiled Prophets procession will be witnessed and the grand ball attended.

Epidemic of Drunkenness.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—An epidemic of drunkenness seems to have prevailed in the army and navy during the summer, affecting even the military academy at West Point and the civil bureaus of both departments; many of the offenses of officers in this respect having been condoned to the great detriment of discipline. A prominent army officer is represented as saying in regard to the extent of this evil: "If every man who is found drunk, even when on duty, is dismissed from his service, our little army would soon dwindle to a corporal's guard. It makes a deal of difference, however, whether the officer has influence in the department."

TUESDAY EVE., SEPT., 27, 1887.

The wet season seems to have set in. And nobody is kicking about it that we have heard of.

We always did claim that the "plate system" was a pretty good thing, and we are happy to note that our contemporary, the Daily Republican, has come to the same conclusion.

The Louisville Republican that was started last spring to "boom" its party in this State has made an assignment. Kentucky soil does not seem to be specially adapted to the growth and prosperity of Republican papers.

The temperance folks will petition the next Legislature for an act prohibiting the sale and manufacture of liquor within this county. Petitions will be circulated in each precinct for the signature of persons over twenty-one years of age.

SCOTT COUNTY voted Saturday by about eight hundred majority to subscribe $100,000 to the capital stock of the Paris, Frankfort and Georgetown Railroad. This makes $450,000 subscribed to the road, and will probably insure its building.

The big journals of the land are still talking about "Little Breeches" Foraker and the snubbing he received at Philadelphia. This newspaper talk is just what the little fellow likes to see. He was courting it when he went to Philadelphia.

THE CHAMBER of Commerce of Covington has directed its Committee on Legislation to have an act passed giving Kenton County the power to purchase turnpike roads or any part of them, the purpose being to do away with the oppressive tolls of the present.

We hope none of the Union printers of Maysville will tell the I. T. U. that our contemporary has adopted the "plate system." Its action in the matter is not very consistent with its talk last spring, it is true, but then it is just what has been expected for some time.

The fight the Daily Republican made against the EVENING BULLETIN last spring for our use of the plate system was a silly one, and we so expressed ourselves at the time. Our contemporary places itself in a rather embarrassing situation by adopting the "pewter plates" after the many hard words it has uttered against them.

We prefer to pay home mechanics for type-setting, in preference to adopting the plate system, which is a means of economy at the expense of workingmen.—Daily Republican, March 5th.

Time, indeed, works wonderful changes. The Daily Republican has adopted the "plate system," as a reference to its columns will show. We trust, however, that "home mechanics" will not think of "boycotting" it.

From the way the people of Ohio are kicking about the admission of negroes to the white schools, it is very easy to be seen that "race prejudices" are not confined altogether to the South by any means. The Ohioans don't relish the idea of placing their children in the schools along side of the colored folks, and there is no necessity for doing so, either. Equal facilities for education, and not mixed schools, ought to prove satisfactory to all.

THE GREENUP GAZETTE evidently does not believe all the talk about the early completion of the new railroad. In its last issue, it says: "Those that are talking about the completion of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, from Maysville to Ashland by the 1st of October, do not understand the subject. If this road is completed between those points by the 1st of January we will be surprised. If the passenger cars are running over this road by the 1st of June next, the contractors will have to be pushed stronger than they have been since last spring."

The Morning Dress.

It is said that a lady's standing in society can easily be determined by her dress at the breakfast table; an expensive, showy costume indicating that the wearer has not yet learned the proprieties. But no one need be afraid of being called "shoddy" if her loveliness is as apparent by daylight as at the hops. Perfect beauty is never the attendant of disease; above all, of those diseases peculiar to women, and which find a ready cure in Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription."

KENTUCKY'S BOOMER.

Programme of the State Industrial and Commercial Conference to be Held in Louisville Next Month.

The State Industrial and Commercial Conference, of which frequent mention has been made, will convene in Louisville on the 4th of next month. The sessions will close on the 6th of the month. On the days of the convention, the meetings will be held in the forenoon and afternoon. Ex-Governor Knott is chairman of the Executive Committee, and at his invitation several papers are being prepared, setting forth the rich resources of the State. From the Louisville Commercial we learn the papers that will treat of the main questions are as follows:

"Present and Future Railroad Development of Kentucky," by Basil W. Duke.

"The Kentucky River and its Relation to the Eastern Kentucky Coal Fields," by J. Stoddard Johnston.

"Resources of the Upper Licking River," by Judge J. T. Hazelrigg.

"The Geological Survey of Kentucky," by John R. Proctor.

"Peculiarities of Kentucky Soils," by C. M. Hanna.

"Agricultural Experiments," by M. A. Sewell, Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, State College.

"Report on the Foreign Colonies Established in Kentucky."

"The Lumber Forests of Kentucky, with Reference to Wood Manufactures at Home," by Stephen E. Jones.

"Kentucky Horticulture," by E. D. Powell.

"Minerals of the Green River Valley," by Colonel H. M. Crump.

In addition to these, it is expected that there will be numerous valuable reports on counties and sections. J. H. Allen, of Hopkins County, has promised a paper on the iron and coals of Western Kentucky, and Mr. Jordan Giles a report on the railroad development of that section. Judge Buckner will probably deliver an address on "Future Kentucky," and there will be reports on the increase of manufactures in Louisville, Covington, Maysville, Paris, Winchester, Henderson, Owensboro, Bowling Green, Paducah and other manufacturing points. Papers have also been prepared on the special products of many counties, so that when the reports of the conference are published they will be a compendium of valuable information.

The convention will undoubtedly be largely attended as the various counties are taking an active interest in the matter.

Congressman William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, has accepted an invitation to be present. He is the oldest member of the House, is considered among the leading authorities on industrial matters, and has manifested great interest in the new South and her development. R. H. Edmonds, of the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record, will likely be present, also. The Record has done more, perhaps, than any other paper in the country to call attention to the wonderful resources of the South, and is still engaged in the good work. Many other distinguished persons are expected to attend.

Stock and Crops.

The melon-growers have had a profitable season. Prices have been good, and there has been the average demand. Many of the home growers still have a good supply on hand.

Farmers who have examined pronounce a large portion of the grass killed by the drought. Even blue grass didn't survive entirely the withering hand, and in some localities as much as one-third is killed.—Owen County News.

Reports from ten Southern States show an increase of more than 37,000,000 bushels in the present corn crop over that of last year. The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record says: "This great increase in corn production in the cotton States will prove of immense benefit not only to farmers, but to every business interest in that section. In the West the yield of corn is so small that Southern farmers will doubtless secure much higher prices for their corn than last year."

The Lexington Press remarks: "The old saying that a potato patch stood next to a gold mine in productiveness, is likely to prove true this year. Prices of Irish potatoes have advanced during the past month from 60 cents per bushel to $1.25, with a good prospect for reaching $2.50 before many weeks. The Lexington dealers in this staple report that housekeepers practice the strictest economy in its use, and are already looking around for some substitute."

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all throat, lung and chest affections. Trial bottle free at the drug stores of J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

UP A LIGHTNING ROD.

A Boston Man Climbs One Eight Stories, and Don't Know Why.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—It's a rare man that can climb eight stories on a lightning rod. Capt. Joseph T. Walsh did it early Sunday morning, and the funny thing about it is that he doesn't know why. He brought his schooner well laden with fish into East Boston Saturday, and, being a jovial soul, came over to this city to celebrate his good luck. He says he got back to the wharf an hour before midnight.

It was half past 12 when a passer-by saw a man hanging to the lightning rod of the Boston sugar refineries building on Lewis street. He was then seven stories up, and his motto was still "Excessor." The eighth story, however, satisfied him, and he clung in the window. The witness of the acrobatic feat called a patrolman, and a party of searchers were soon climbing the stairs. In the seventh story they found their man, and he was big one, too. But he offered no resistance, and made no attempt to escape. As to why he was there he couldn't give the slightest reason. The officer let him go, and now he is wondering what on earth led him to climb eight stories of lightning rod and then come down stairs.

ON THE MAN IN SESSION.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—On Friday at the Genesee house, in this city, was gathered several of the most prominent oil men in the country. Among them were Hon. Benjamin Brewster, of New York; John D. Archbold, of New York; President Taylor, of the Union Oil company; Senator Lee, of Franklin, Pa.; Daniel O'Day, of this city, and a dozen others. The meeting was very secret, and nothing could be learned of what was done. It is learned to-day, however, from Mr. O'Day that the business transacted was in the nature of a talk on the prospect of diminishing the supply of oil so that the price will go up.

The Red River Railroad Troubles.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 27.—Premier Norquay is expected to arrive soon from New York, where he failed to float the bonds of the Red River road. Norquay claims that while in New York he was followed by McTavish, a special agent of the Canadian Pacific railroad, who was the means of preventing capitalists taking the bonds. McTavish reached Winnipeg yesterday. If construction has to cease it is difficult to say what the excited people will be led to do as they firmly believe that connection with the United States is essential to their prosperity and absolute necessity.

Mrs. Cleveland Thankful.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A world special from Philadelphia says: At a meeting of the medical committee of the centennial celebration yesterday a message was received from Mrs. Cleveland expressing her gratitude for the care of the president after his reception of thirty thousand people at the City hall. The care referred to was the presenting and administering of a dose of wine and iron in a cracked beer mug, which is treasured by an admiring Democrat.

Cardinal Gibbons Starts West.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 27.—Cardinal Gibbons, accompanied by Dr. P. L. Chapelle, of Washington, left Baltimore at 10:45 this morning on the Pennsylvania railroad for the west, Portland, Oregon is the Cardinal's objective point where he will confer the pallium upon Archbishop Gross, but will stop enroute at Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Both Sides Stubborn.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—There is no change in the canal boatmen's strike. Both sides are stubborn and will concede nothing. Only the boats that are under the control of the scalpers are leaving here for the four and one-half cent freight. As fast as boats arrive their owners join the ranks of the strikers.

A Tumble in Short Ribs.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The price of October short ribs took another big tumble to-day on the board of trade. Immediately after the opening small offerings broke the market off from 8.05 cents at the start to 7.65 cents ten minutes later. The close Saturday was at 8.25 cents.

No Indian Outbreak.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The telegrams from Arizona with reference to the reported outbreak of Indians are very conflicting. The latest advices, however, state that the reports of the outbreak were without foundation.

It is now fairly settled that a western base ball league will be organized for the coming season. Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Des Moines and Kansas City are ready, and it is confidently stated that both St. Louis and Chicago will enter teams under the control of Von der Ahe and Spaulding respectively.

The corn crop of Texas is estimated at 80,247,000 bushels, an increase of about 10,000,000 bushels over that of last year.

Above all other earthly ills.

By slow degrees they do downward trend; And often pause, or upward tend; With such discomfit for they are fractious, Their good effects amount to naught.

Now Dr. Pierce prepares a pill—

That just exactly fills the bill—

A Pellet, rather, that is all—

A Pleasant Purgative, and small;

Just try them as you feel their need;

You'll find that I speak truth, indeed.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Lida W. Otto, aged about nineteen years, wife of Sherman Otto. "She is not dead but asleep."

What consolation and joy even in this sad hour of bereavement may find lodgment in the hearts of the friends, parents and husband of Lida W. Otto, when they think that she is not dead but sleepeth, and that 'er long she'll meet with her agau to part no more.

Strange it is that death should lay his icy finger on such young and tender flowers, and blinding into womanhood; but it budded on earth to bloom in Heaven." Lida was just finishing her nineteenth year. She was married in April to Sherman Otto, and bright prospects were unrolling themselves to her. Alas, she was stricken with one uncontrollable disease, and after six weeks of intense suffering, the toes that bound her soul to earth were severed, leaving it free to roll onward and upward from whence it did not long come. Although near relatives, I saw her but once. She was then a bright, joyous and healthy girl, never dreaming that so soon her end would be the common fate of all.

Would I had the power to give some cheering words to her parents, who have seen their oldest child, the one in whom they centered their brightest hopes, taken from them, but in such a way as to leave them, however, still rejoicing that their loss is but eternal gain.

Mr. HARRY HARDY, the eminent Cornet Soloist, and who is recognized as one of the finished Cornet Soloists of America, will appear at each performance in a choice selection of Solos.

Note the prices—25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats on sale at Taylor's book store.

STEP BY STEP.

Stairs Steps Over the Country as a Representative of the Bulletin.

Notes and Comments on Persons and Things He Saw.

We slipped over to Ripley a few days ago. There are lots of people who slip over to Ripley from the west end of Mason. This is a prohibition section and they have to slip over to get a drink. And its real strange that Kentucky is such a strong Democratic State, and makes so much whisky, and pays so much revenue and is jeered at so much on account of it. While Ohio is such a good Republican State and so temperate and moral, and yet all along the borders, when a Kentuckian wants a drink he has to go over to this moral State of Ohio to get it. We only say this is a strange fact.

We soon discover on our arrival at Ripley that the Bank Hotel is the most popular hotel, that H. N. Wiles is the leading merchant, and that Louie Reinert keeps the best restaurant in town. There are lots of other enterprising business men, but Wiles is the one that keeps his bargains before the people by liberal advertising.

Among the old "land-marks" of Ripley may be seen any day Uncle John Thompson, noted throughout this section of country as the inventor and manufacturer of the famous "Thompson Plow." Where is the farmer in this country who has not used and admired the workings of the Thompson plow? Mr. Thompson is now past eighty-three years of age, and is still hale and hearty, and may be seen any day walking the streets of Ripley. He invented one among, if not the very first, iron or steel mould-board plows in the State of Ohio, and to this day, with all the enlightenment of practical experience, few if any plows—except Maysville's pride, the Hall plow, the premium plow of the world—have ever excelled the original Thompson plow. He opened a shop for the manufacture of these plows in the lower end of Ripley some fifty-five years ago, and for a time furnished most of the plows for the entire Ohio Valley and shipped many South. It is said by leading business men of Ripley that had Mr. Thompson enlarged his factory and filled all demands for his plow he might have counted his money to-day by the millions and have had a factory second to none in the world. But he was content to make only such as he could personally oversee; and when old age crept on him, and his two sons, who were skilled mechanics, and made valuable improvements and new inventions, passed away, the hammer and anvil and tongs were laid aside, and the manufacture of the old original Thompson plow ceased. To-day the old shop stands a relic of the past. The furnaces have tumbled down, except one, and are a mass of crumbled brick, the roof is decayed and mossgrown, the anvil block is but a rotten sycamore chunk, the old desk against the wall, grim and dust covered, still holds the old book accounts of 1833, and all is silent as the grave where once was busy life—where the first and last and only Thompson plows were made. The plow was Mr. Thompson's pride in life, and well may he be proud of its universal popularity.

Cora Van Tassel is Coming.

She will be here next Saturday night, and will have a packed house, as is the case wherever she is known, or her fame has reached. Numbers of applications were made for seats when the management of the opera house first made the announcement that she would appear. Parties from the country have written to the hotels for rooms and one of the largest houses of the season may be looked for. We copy the following from the Bradford, (Pa.), Era, of August 22nd. "Although the night was a disagreeable one, the opera house was packed from "ceiling to garret." Cora Van Tassel, in "The Hidden Hand," was the attraction.

* * * The star was clever, the scenery was good, the piece funny. If "The Hidden Hand" catches on all season like it did in Bradford, Miss Van Tassel will make a barrel of money."

Secretary's Report Showing Condition of the Company for Last Quarter.

The Mason County Building and Saving Association is one of the solid business organizations of Maysville. It has done, and is still doing, great good. It affords a safe investment for the man of small means, whereby he can lay aside some of his earnings, little by little at a time, for the "rainy day" that is almost certain to come to most every one some time in life. The association already has six series of stock running, and will commence its seventh series October 1st.

The following has been kindly furnished by the Secretary, M. C. Russell: MARYSVILLE, KY., September 26, 1887.

Very respectfully,

MILTON C. RUSSELL, Secretary.

HARDY, the eminent cornet soloist, will render some of his best pieces at the opera house to-night. He is with Phil Greiner, the original "bad boy."

ELDER FRANCIS P. BUTTON, who attended the State meeting here a few months ago, has accepted a call from the Christian Church at Morehead, Rowan County, and has entered upon his pastoral duties there.

JAMES C. OWENS and wife and Mrs. Kate C. Ross have sold and conveyed to the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad Company forty-eight square poles of land on Limestone Creek, near the new railroad bridge, for $200 cash.

An ice cream supper will be given by the members of the M. E. Church choir, at the residence of William Bloom, Fifth Ward, on Wednesday evening, at half-past seven o'clock, proceeds to buy a new pulpit for the church. The public is cordially invited.

JOE COSLERT, a laborer of Ripley, crossed over to Kentucky soil last Sunday, and filled up on hard cider. While attempting to make the trip back home, he fell into the river, dragging his little son with him. Bystanders went to the rescue, and prevented a double drowning.

It seems to be a rather difficult matter, for some reason or other, for the evening passenger train to reach this city on time, of late. A few more engineers like the fellow who brought the special train in from Lexington last week in a little over two hours time should be put on the road to stir things up.

If a person wishes to realize a handsome interest on his money and lay aside something for "a rainy day," he should take shares in the Mason County Building and Saving Association. Seventh series begins October 1st. Books are now open at Bank of Maysville, and George T. Wood's and J. James Wood's stores.

The Covington Chamber of Commerce is taking steps to have a first-class hotel erected at that place. The lack of such a thing, it was declared, is greatly injuring the character and business interests of Covington, there being no other city in the country, except Newport, which is so badly situated for the reception and accommodation of strangers and guests.

PHILIP ROSSMAN, one of the earliest German settlers of Levanna, died Saturday, at the age of seventy-three. He was a member of the German Pioneers of Ripley.

REV. D. A. BEARDSLEY, pastor, will preach in Mitchel's Chapel, in Chester, tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation to attend the services is extended to the public.

CONSIDERABLE stock was on the market at Flemingsburg yesterday. Mules sold well in the forenoon, but the supply was greater than the demand, and in the afternoon lower prices prevailed.

"The Bad Boy" is pronounced "the laughing success of the times." Be at the opera house to-night and enjoy the play. Admission only 25, 35 and 50 cents. No extra charge for reserved seats.

HOMER FREDERICK has the contract for building the addition to Poyntz & Son's iron-clad bonded warehouse in the West End. The statement in yesterday's paper that S. B. Chunn had the contract was not correct. The parties who gave us the information first published thought they knew what they were talking about, but they didn't.

In speaking of the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Denver last week, the Rocky Mountain News says: "Conspicuous among the many handsome ladies in the excursion Thursday were the Meedames Cable and Pettibone of Ohio, Mrs. Sloan, of St. Louis, Mrs. Silver, of Milwaukee, Miss Emma Leach, of Pleasant Hill, Mo., Miss Mamie Scott, of Maysville, Ky., and Miss White, the daughter of the grand sire of New York. The excursion was exclusively for the ladies, but a News reporter noticed among the gentlemen who were evidently let in on account of their handsome looks, Hon. John T. Wilson, of Maysville, Ky."

BARGAINS AT HOLTON'S—CLOSING OUT SALE THIS WEEK.

NIHILISTIC DOCTRINES.

REVOLUTIONIST SPIRIT BEING IMBUED INTO THE RUSSIAN YOUTH.

A Startling Discovery Made by the Minister of Public Instruction at St. Petersburg—Suspects Being Closely Watched. Various Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The minister of public instruction at St. Petersburg has recently made a discovery, the object of which will require most active vigilance on the part of his lieutenants to follow out and uproot. He has learned that in the province of Tver Nihilistic doctrines are spreading with great rapidity, and that the Russian youth of this province are becoming fast imbued with the iconoclastic spirit of the revolutionists. Tver is tainted with Nihilism, and the authorities are alarmed at its extensive hold on the minds of the people.

The minister of public instruction found and seized a number of writings of all degrees of Nihilistic teaching, from the mid primer of the neophyte in government opposition to the fierce and unrestrained language of the red-handed czar-killer. Tver, although only a short distance from the capital, has been made the receptacle of political exiles from St. Petersburg, and now they number a large percentage of the population. That Nihilism should spread and produce a hot bed, as it were, of Anarchists in a province which is flooded with its professed followers is not strange. The Russian Nihilist of the better sort is a refined, educated man. In fact it is in the higher class that the doctrines of this creed flourish best, and philosophers, sophists, soldiers and students are numbered among its ranks. Numbers of them for minor offenses have been sent to Tver, and an excellent opportunity has been given to these enthusiasts to convert large numbers to their fold. The business has been gone about quietly. Secret meetings have been held where none but the faithful and those brought up by them have been admitted.

The young men of Tver have been taken in hand by these cultivated men who have been able to present their ideas in the most palitable shape, and the consequence is that they have succeeded in their endeavors most fully. Since the discovery by the minister of public instruction of this state of things in Tver, the government have exercised the most stringent surveillance over every town in the province. Numbers of the exiles will be transported to other places and scattered among other provinces. They will be careful not to allow again the collection in one province of so many of the fraternity. Strict search is being made for all kinds of incendiary documents, and quantities have been confiscated by the government. The youth of the province who are suspected of being converts to nihilism will be kept strict watch of for the government are aroused.

All Quiet Now.

DUBLIN, Sept. 27.—Archbishop Walsh has issued a pastoral in which he expresses the hope that the people will refrain from acts of violence and continue in the paths of justice, which he declares is the only prospect for obtaining peace. There has been no further rioting at Fermoy. All is quiet this morning.

INDIANA RECORDS STOLEN.

Valuable Reports and Publications Sold for Old Paper.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—It has been discovered that tons of books, many of them very valuable, have been stolen from the store rooms of the state buildings and sold to junk dealers. One lot was found at the Indiana Paper company's rooms. There were hundreds of books and of many kinds, which showed that the thieving has been going on for some time, as no ten men could have secured that amount of plunder in one night.

There was a large number of state officers' reports, dating back for several years; many reports of the various legislatures, the various laws passed by congress for years back, and including the laws of 1883 and 1887, which are very valuable. The paper company say that they purchased the books from a junk dealer named Smith. The colored juntas are suspected of their theft. State officials declare that an investigation will be made immediately and the guilty parties punished.

Central Labor Union in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 27.—A largely attended meeting of the Central Labor union was held yesterday with the avowed purpose of taking action on the Socialists. Only a few disciples of Most were present and after a sharp debate it was voted by an overwhelming majority to expel all Socialists from the meeting. The meeting then unanimously passed resolutions adhering to the principles of the Union Labor party and strongly opposing all Socialistic doctrines, as well as refusing to allow any of that class seats in the Central Union hereafter. A Knight of Labor in this city of which Mr. D. Hammond, a prominent Socialist, was a leader, has been suspended.

Death of an Old African Chief.

AMERICUS, Ga., Sept. 27.—Edmund Montgomery died in Nick Jordan's place, near the county line of Schley, aged 103 years. He was an African chief of the Asaki tribe and was taken to Virginia from Africa in 1807, when he was a stalwart young man. He had a large family in Virginia, and when he died he left his third wife and twenty-five children in Georgia. His grandchildren and great grandchildren are unknown and unnumbered. He had remarkably good eyesight and health, and never took less of medicine in his life. He had teeth like ivory, and every one was in his head at the time of his death.

PARIS, Ky., Sept. 27.—Steve Trabue and Nick Worthington, of Shawhan, while on their way from church Sunday, got drunk at Lair's station, on the Kentucky Central railroad, in Harrison county, and became involved in a squirrel. Trabue fatally stabbed Worth, and is still at large.

No Cause for Alarm.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—There were no new developments in the matter of cholera patients on Follen's Island to-day. No reports of any further deaths or fresh cases of the disease had been reported to the quarantine commissioners up to now.

The Full Proof Triumph.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—In the United States court in Boston a verdict was rendered this morning sustaining the demurral of the Bell Telephone company against the government suit and the case was dismissed.
